North Tonawanda, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Twelve men were killed early this morning in an explosion and fire at the disintegrating town of the Niagara Falls Power Company here.

The explosion occurred a few minutes after the new transformers had been cut in at the distribution tower of the power company's plant. Thirteen men were crowded in the room watching the work of the new machinery when there was an explosion, apparently caused by a short circuit. The force of the blast burst a steel barrel of lubricating oil which formed part of the new equipment and the flash of the electricity ignited this oil, which was thrown over the men in the room.

Four men were instantly killed, apparently through a window. The other eight managed to escape from the flame-filled room but all were so badly burned that they died in the hospital today and tonight.

Boy Accidentally Shot by Playmate

Lois Ranciet, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ranciet of 24 Cliff street, was accidentally shot Saturday night about 10:30, with a bullet from a revolver in the hands of William Bernadine, 15, stepson of Herman Gordon of 27 Main street.

The revolver was supposed to be unloaded, but it had a bullet shell in it.

The Ranciet boy is in a critical condition at the Rockville hospital. The bullet entered the abdomen at the front and passed through the body, lodging near the backbone. It was located by X-ray and has been removed.

The incident happened on Cliff street near the Chelsea Savings bank when Ranciet, Bernadine and Walter, of 414 Walton street, and James McGee of 18 Cliff street, all boys about the same age, were together, and, according to the story told to the police, Ranciet was offering to let the revolver to the other boys.

Ranciet said it was loaded. He handed it to Walter who snapped the trigger twice, then handed it to young Bernadine, who pulled the trigger. This time there was a shot and Ranciet fell to the pavement saying he was shot and telling the other boys to get a doctor.

William Wosniak carried the wounded boy to a doctor's office nearby in Main street and the mother of the boy was also brought there. Officer Daniel J. O'Neill also came to the doctor's office and took the Bernadine and Walter boys to police headquarters where they described to Capt. D. J. Towner how the accident happened.

The badly wounded boy was taken to the Rockville hospital where after an effort to locate the bullet had been unsuccessful, Photographer Don Houghton was secured to take an x-ray picture, which showed the bullet lodged near the backbone. With this help the doctors were able to remove it.

An older boy of the family, Henry Ranciet, was badly injured a number of weeks ago when he was struck by a automobile at Norwich town.
